

BRAND GUIDELINES

Color & Typography System · v1.0

Colors on the following pages were sampled directly from the live championmotors.co.il interface (site review, July 2026). Typeface identity could not be confirmed from visual inspection alone and is flagged where assumed — confirm against production CSS before final production use.

INTERNAL REFERENCE

FOR DESIGNERS, MARKETERS, AND PRODUCT TEAMS · DRAFTED FROM SITE AUDIT, JULY 2026

COLOR PALETTE

Champion Navy is the anchor of the identity — deep, trustworthy, financial. Charcoal carries almost all reading text. Action Blue is reserved strictly for interactive moments (buttons, links, saved-item icons) so it never gets confused with the calmer, structural navy.

PRIMARY COLORS

Champion Navy
Hero bands, section identity blocks, icons, accents

Charcoal
Headings, body copy, UI labels — the default text color

HEX #00335C · RGB 0 / 51 / 92

HEX #5F5F5F · RGB 95 / 95 / 95

BRAND COLOR TINTS — NAVY VARIATIONS

Two supporting shades of navy, used for depth and secondary emphasis without introducing a new hue.

Navy Deep
Outlined-button borders, pressed states

Navy
Default identity color

Navy Light
Tinted panels, soft backgrounds

HEX #020755

HEX #00335C

HEX #CCE0F2 (est. tint)

ACTION COLOR — INTERACTIVE USE ONLY

A single bright blue is used across the entire site for anything clickable: primary CTA pills, the save/wishlist heart, active filters, links. It never appears as a background fill or a heading color — that separation is what keeps the interface easy to scan.

Action Blue
CTA buttons, links, save icons, active states

DIGITAL ONLY

HEX #2D82FF · RGB 45 / 130 / 255

WHY TWO BLUES, NOT ONE
Champion Navy and Action Blue are deliberately far apart in brightness. Navy carries identity — it never invites a tap. Action Blue carries function — it only ever appears where the interface wants a click. Because the two never sit at similar saturation, the eye always knows which blue means "look" versus which means "do."

RESTRICTED COLOR & PARTNER MARKS

Champion Motors represents multiple vehicle manufacturers (Audi, Volkswagen, Škoda, SEAT, CUPRA, VW Commercial Vehicles) under one roof. The site solves the resulting "whose color wins" problem with a simple rule: partner logos flip between full color and single color depending on context.

LIMITED-USE COLORS

Black
Monochrome partner-logo lockups only

Cool Gray
Table headers, filter panels, dividers

Background Gray
Page canvas behind white cards

HEX #000000
HEX #CED5DF
HEX #F3F5F7 (est.)

PARTNER BRAND MARKS — TWO CONTEXTS

GLOBAL NAVIGATION & MASTHEAD
Audi, Volkswagen, Škoda, SEAT and CUPRA marks render in a single flat color (black, or white on dark) side by side with the Champion Motors wordmark.
Five OEM brand colors competing in one thin row would read as visual noise before a person even reaches the menu.

SERVICE NETWORK & MODEL LISTINGS
The same marks appear in their full authentic OEM colors when the brand itself is the subject — service-center tables, model pages, filter tabs.
Here, color is the information: it tells the customer which dealership services which marque.

COLOR RATIO

Proportional usage across the interface. White and charcoal dominate; navy is concentrated in identity moments; action blue stays rare and purposeful.

WHY THIS SOLVES THE MULTI-BRAND NAV PROBLEM
Champion Motors' own identity (navy + charcoal + white) never has to compete with the five manufacturer identities it represents. Monochrome partner logos in the masthead protect Champion's own visual voice; full-color partner logos in listings protect the customer's ability to tell one manufacturer from another. Same logos, two disciplined rules, no collision.

TYPOGRAPHY SYSTEM

The interface is bilingual by necessity — Hebrew-first, right-to-left, with Latin model names and prices running inline. A grotesque sans with strong Hebrew support carries both directions without a visual seam. Note: the exact font family could not be confirmed from screenshots alone; the pairing below is a placeholder built from what's visible (weight range, letterform proportions) — confirm the shipped family against production CSS.

PLACEHOLDER TYPEFACE · HEBREW + LATIN GROTESQUE

Recommend confirming whether the live site ships Assistant, Heebo, Rubik, or a licensed Hebrew grotesque — all are visually consistent with what's on-screen (even stroke weight, low contrast, tall x-height for RTL legibility).

DIRECTION

Right-to-left (RTL) primary; Latin numerals and brand names (e.g. "Skoda Kamiq") sit inline without full mirroring.

FALLBACK STACK (SUGGESTED)

Arial Hebrew, Arimo, system-ui, sans-serif

Aa REGULAR Body, captions, filter labels
Aa SEMIBOLD Nav links, card subtitles
Aa BOLD Headings, model names
Aa BLACK/EXTRABOLD Hero headline, price stats

TYPE ROLES

Roles observed across the leasing flow, from hero banner down to filter labels. Sizes are described relatively (the site was reviewed via screenshot, not live CSS) — treat the hierarchy as directional and confirm exact px/rem values with engineering.

QUICK REFERENCE CHECKLIST

When in doubt, default to less: one navy identity block, one blue action, charcoal for everything you read, white surface underneath.

DO

- ✓ Use Champion Navy for hero bands and section-identity blocks — one per view.
- ✓ Reserve Action Blue strictly for clickable elements: buttons, links, save icons.
- ✓ Set body and heading text in Charcoal (#5F5F5F), not pure black.
- ✓ Render partner OEM logos in a single flat color in the global nav.
- ✓ Show partner OEM logos in full authentic color in service/model listings.
- ✓ Mirror the entire layout for RTL — nav order, icons, arrows, alignment.
- ✓ Use Cool Gray for structural surfaces: table headers, filter panels.

DON'T

- ✗ Use Action Blue as a large background fill or a heading color.
- ✗ Combine Champion Navy and Action Blue in the same headline.
- ✗ Recolor, stretch, or flatten a partner manufacturer's logo.
- ✗ Default to pure black (#000000) for reading text.
- ✗ Introduce a third blue or navy shade outside the three defined here.
- ✗ Ship an LTR component without mirroring it for Hebrew.
- ✗ Let a manufacturer's brand color leak into Champion's own chrome (nav, footer, forms).

LAYOUT

- Right-to-left base direction; Latin inline for model names/prices
- White card surfaces on a light Cool Gray canvas
- Filter sidebar sits on the reading-start side (right, in RTL)

LOGO & PARTNERS

- Wordmark: "צ'מפיון מוטורס" / "Champion Motors"
- Nav lockup: Champion + 5-6 partner marks, monochrome
- Sub-brand: "CHAMPION Private Lease" uses a script accent on "Private" only — not a general-use treatment

VOICE

- Trustworthy, responsible, human-centered (site copy leads with אנושיות / אחריות — responsibility / humanity)
- Corporate-professional, financially precise (leasing terms, bank partnerships stated plainly)
- Calm rather than promotional — navy and charcoal do the talking
